Every year, on July 29th, a village of a few hundred residents perched high in northwestern Spain holds a festival called Fiesta de Santa Marta de Ribarteme. The event is a celebration of near-death experiences where people play dead in coffins as a tribute to their good fortune as survivors, or on behalf of loved ones who are close to death. Have you survived a near-death experience? Are you nursing a loved one? Share a photo with MemoryBox!
