

Sacco and Vanzetti Execution

Memory ID: 6PJJK5WB3

Produced by: MemoryBox

On August 23, 1927, two Italian-Americans, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, were judiciously murdered by the State of Massachusetts for their political beliefs, having been framed for a murder they didn't commit. Sacco and Vanzetti were committed anarchists who had worked on behalf of many workers' struggles, and who'd protested against WWI. The authorities were worried that workers would follow the example of the Russian Revolution.
