Chuck Mangione, the flugelhornist whose smooth jazz sound brought crossover success in the 1970s & '80s, died July 22, at age 84. Best known for the hit Feels So Good, Mangione was nominated for four Grammy Awards, winning twice, for Bellavia and Children of Sanchez. Mangione also wrote the theme song, Give it All You Got, for the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Plácido, NY. Mangione's work helped bring instrumental jazz into the mainstream.
